DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Newly submitted claim 19 is directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons:

The inventions as claimed are independent since they are not connected in design, operation or effect, i.e., each invention is separately usable and the operation, design and effect of one is independent of the other.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claim 19 stands withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-4, 6-8, 10-14, 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hedenberg (US 4,590,850) in view of Hoerner (US 3,687,251). The patent to Hedenberg discloses the claimed subject matter except for an engager connecting one side of the lower or first pulley to the connector. The patent to Hoerner discloses that it is known in the art to have an engager (Fig.1 and col. 2, lines 37-43) that performs the same function as in the claimed invention. Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided Hedenberg with an engager connecting one side of the pulley to the connector in the manner suggested by Hoerner, in order to assure that driving force is accurately transmitted, if desired. Also, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to have a reduction gear which speed-reduces a driving force of a driving motor and has an output shaft thereof transmitting the speed-reduced driving force to a lower kneading drum and an engager including a plurality of engaging projections projected in a radial direction and a plurality of projections accommodating grooves formed in the lower pulley to accommodate the plurality of engaging projections, since applicant has not disclosed that having such a design choice solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well. Further, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to have a reduction gear further comprise a worm gear having a worm and a worm gear case located under the driving motor, since applicant has not disclosed that having a such a design choice solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well. Further, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to have an engager provided between the connector and the first pulley, since applicant has not disclosed that having a connector connecting an output shaft of a reduction gear and connecting a first driving shaft part of a first kneading drum solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed January 18, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., that these specific structural design features claimed can reduce assembly time, etc.) are not recited in the rejected claims. Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). This action is a final rejection and is intended to close the prosecution of this application. Applicant's reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to this action is limited either to an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or to an amendment complying with the requirements set forth below.

If applicant should desire to appeal any rejection made by the examiner, a Notice of Appeal must be filed within the period for reply identifying the rejected claim or claims appealed.

If applicant should desire to file an amendment, entry of a proposed amendment after final rejection cannot be made as a matter of right unless it merely cancels claims or complies with a formal requirement made earlier. Amendments touching the merits of the application which otherwise might not be proper may be admitted upon a showing a good and sufficient reasons why they are necessary and why they were not presented earlier.

A reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to a final rejection must include the appeal from, or cancellation of, each rejected claim. The filing of an amendment after final rejection, whether or not it is entered, does not stop the running of the statutory period for reply to the final rejection unless the examiner holds the claims to be in condition for allowance. Accordingly, if a Notice of Appeal has not been filed properly within the period for reply, or any extension of this period obtained under either 37 CFR 1.136(a) or (b), the application will become abandoned.
